

Online Learning Company Cornerstone Learning Technology Becomes Major Sponsor of California Continuation Education Association

CCEA State Conference, Hyatt Regency Santa Clara, May 1st 2009

Members of the California Continuation Education Association (CCEA) are experiencing the benefits of a new, improved website as a result of a sponsorship agreement with Cornerstone Learning Technology, Inc., a company specializing in the provision of online learning facilities.

The California Continuation Education Association (CCEA) represents the interest of the 500-plus continuation high schools in the state and more than 70,000 students (about 10% of all secondary students) in those schools.

Based in San Marcos, CA, the team at Cornerstone Learning Technology Inc. (CLT) has decades of experience, both nationally and internationally, in the field of online learning and the implementation of computer-based programs to improve student and school performance. Web-based facilities add a new dimension to the possibilities for interactive computer-based learning. CLT is working in association with The Ware Group, based in La Jolla, CA.

Geoff Glossop, CLT President, said "We are delighted to be in partnership with the CCEA. Cornerstone's mission to improve learning is closely related to CCEA's objectives as an organization. The response from the many member schools already using our services indicates the power of computer-based learning, particularly in motivating and retaining students for graduation. We look forward to developing this relationship to the benefit of schools and students."

Dan Plough, CCEA Past President, said "The new website will enable us to help our members keep up to date on what is happening in our sector and to provide new resources to help schools, teachers and administrators. We are pleased to partner with Cornerstone Learning Technology, a company already known to so many of our schools, including my own."

The mission of the California Continuation Education Association is to advocate for the betterment of continuation education and to promote the development of quality schools for our students, to support and provide professional development for the improvement of instruction that leads to student achievement of high standards, completion of a high school diploma, effective preparation for work, positive community involvement, and a foundation for life-long learning.

Ends.

More information:

Geoff Glossop, geoff@cornerstonelt.com, (800) 234-5499

Dan Plough, dplough@calexico.k12.ca.us, (760) 455-2989

Websites www.cceanet.org, www.cornerstonelt.com